

A FIRM FOCUSED ON GROWTH

There is no question that, over time, the equity markets have proven rewarding. At times though, these same markets can be volatile and challenging for investors, advisors and money managers. The past several years have been successful for investors, but turbulence could creep back into the investment markets at any time. In times like these, you have to ask yourself and your advisor the tough questions about your investment portfolio to ensure you are partnering with investment professionals who share a common interest – growing your assets!

Gradient Investments, LLC is a fee-only investment manager that provides unique portfolio strategies, actively manages risk and consistently performs in good times and in bad.

The approach Gradient Investments brings to portfolio design and management is singular in the industry – and it is no longer a secret. This philosophy is attracting new clients and industry attention.

As you can see from the third-party statistics below, independent advisors and their clients are continuing to partner with Gradient Investments. Complex financial markets are challenging. Gradient Investments can help you navigate through various economic cycles.

You have choices when it comes to investing your hard-earned money. Gradient Investments is proud to be an investment management firm that is not only progressive and growth oriented, but a firm that offers long-term sustainability.

Gradient Investments actively manages portfolios through its proprietary Wright Investment Strategy, which is based on the principles of flight. Although the Wright brothers' first flight was over 100 years ago, it remains one of the most complex and demanding challenges ever mastered. The Wright brothers conquered this challenge by developing a scientific 3-Axis Control System that is still used today on fixed-wing aircraft.
